SECOND SUNDAY OF ADVENT

7 DECEMBER 2008.

KILLASSER/CALLOW PARISH PASTORAL COUNCIL MISSION STATEMENT

'We seek to become a more welcoming community where God's message of faith, hope and love is experienced'

AS I WAS SAYING ....

Advent has begun. The Season means different things to different people. For many, - and this will include the vast majority of children - it is a season of great expectation and great joy. To the child, uncontaminated by experience or cynicism, everything is new and filled with wonder. Christmas ensures that their childish expectations will not be disappointed; on Christmas Night the 'Old Reliable' will deliver, on target and on time, from his ample bag of uncountable blessings!

At Christmas, we adults too find ourselves counting our blessings. In fact, I suspect that the heart of all religion is really gratitude, an expression of the need to say 'thank you' for everything that we have, indeed even for life itself. For some, this need to say 'thank you' goes hand in glove with the existence of a Creator God who is responsible for the world and all its beauty. For others, it's the natural world itself that generates this sense of dependency that leads to the spirit of gratitude and thankfulness.

Yet, whatever way we come to it, there are still those who will regard all this as whistling in the dark, the desperate attempt to console ourselves with up-beat stories. But it's not that at all; actually counting our blessings is a sort of reality check, just as our gloomy self-absorption urges a retreat into some insular unreality. What we need to do is take a big step back from our obsessive attention to the stock exchange and our empty wallets and look at things from a much wider perspective.

It is interesting that those who are able literally to step out of the world often return with their world-view changed. A spectacular example of this 'conversion' was the astronaut James Irwin. Irwin walked on the moon in 1971, the eighth man to do so. He often spoke of the lunar mission as 'an epiphany', declaring 'I felt the power of God as I've never felt it before.' In his Book 'More than Earthlings' in 1983, Irwin wrote that, from a huge distance, 'The Earth reminded us of a Christmas Tree ornament hanging in the blackness of space. As we got farther and farther away it shrank to the size of a marble, the most beautiful marble you can imagine.'

Religious practice is an attempt to create just this sort of perspective, to view our own life from the viewpoint of eternity. And from this vantage point, however it's reached, the world is not so fraught and not so anxious. Consider the lilies of the field, says Jesus, they are all beyond anxiety.

Jesus is making a simple point; there's a vast reality beyond our own worries, and that getting exclusively caught up in the trials of the day is a form of blindness. That is why most of us could do with a lot more gratitude in our lives. Because the central event we are preparing to celebrate is good news for all: for Children, for the Emigrant, for the Family, for the Poor, for the Lonely, for the Sick and the Dying. The one who opened the door to God for us then drained the bitter cup of human experience for love of us. Gratitude becomes us.
