

THE JOURNEYMAN PROGRAMME A Camphill initiative

Dear CAMPHILL SUPPORTER

The Journeyman Programme is a Camphill venture for young people with a disability between the ages of 18-25 years old.

Please help the Journeyman Programme realize their dream to build a new centre in Carrick on Suir, Co. Tipperary.

Would you or a family member or friend like to become part of the Camphill National Fund Raising group?

This June 16th you can support this project at the Camphill fund raising Race Night at Leopardstown.

The Journeyman will start to build a new €2m. Centre in 2008. The centre will provide wide range of educational and social opportunities to young people to reach their potential and develop their confidence over a 5 year period.

The Journeyman Programme has been recognized by the HSE as a centre of excellence in providing individualized supports for students to be able to express their aims and wishes for their future life.

The project is breaking new ground in the disability sector, especially in the field of the school leaver who may have an autistic spectrum disorder and who may need extra guidance and support.

This Camphill initiative is creating new opportunities for young people with exceptional needs who have just left school. It is forging a training model which can be passed on to other such centres for young people and replicated country wide.

Please help the National Fund Raising Group to raise much needed funds to support the Journeyman Programme to build this new Centre for the future
