

Hello!

I just saw your anti-Palmar website, and I have my own words to add. I hope you will publish them, but you probably won't, given your mind-set.

I am on the verge of JOINING the Palmarian Church, and I find your website offensive, to say the least.

For my part, I am SICK of the liberal, touchy-feely, feel good, modernistic BULL of the Vatican II Church, which is really, in my opinion, nothing more than the religion and church of the antichrist.

I am attracted to Palmar, NOT "inspite of" but rather, BECAUSE OF the set of rules and regulations. These rules were once part of the Catholic Church, and those that were not SHOULD HAVE BEEN!!!

I admit, it will be hard to give up my Harry Potter films, due to the ban on movies referring to magic, but think about it...Wicca is leading many, many souls straight into Hell.

Palmar's rules are to safeguard our SOULS. Better death to the body than the death of the immortal soul.

I made my first pilgrimage to el Palmar in 2003...and everything there was truly of Jesus and Mary. I don't care what ex-Palmarians like Fr LUCIFER say (Fr Luc's real name)...they are just mad because they couldn't follow the rules. It is, my friends, a MORTAL SIN for a woman to wear trousers...even if the Palmarian Church were not true.

Kindly consult your bible...even the heretical King James Version!!!! Our Lady of Fatima said, "Certain fashions will be introduced which will offend My Son very much." This refers to denim and also women in slacks, among other fashions of the devil so prevalent today, even some I had once fallen for! I really could care less if I must separate from my family, because my immediate family live like pagans and children of the devil, and made my life a living hell for my Catholic Faith. Those few that do practice their faith made my life hell because I reject Vatican II, and have formally done so since the age of 14 when I left an apostate Vatican II minor "seminary" (or shall I say FEMinary) and entered the Traditionalist movement.

Unfortunately, the traditional movement is fragmented...another sign of Palmar's truth, as we need a pope. A REAL pope. And it looks to me like God gave us one in the person of Pope St Gregory the Very Great and now, His Holiness, Pope Peter II.

I will pray for you poor misled people.

Anyone can email me, but hate mail WILL BE DEALT WITH!

In the Holy Face of Jesus and Our Crowned Mother of el Palmar,

David L Corradini Jr
davey6279@yahoo.com